War Threat in Indonesia, Malaysia Fuss

By TONY ESCODA
AP Special Correspondent

KUALA LUMPUR, Malaysia (AP) — Prime Minister Tunku Abdul Rahman said today his government has decided to impose a state of emergency throughout Malaysia because of indications that Indonesia is preparing to "mount a big offensive" against this country.

Rahman presided at an emergency Cabinet session after high-level talks with British Commonwealth allies who pledged to increase military and economic aid following an airborne landing in Malaysia Wednesday by about 30 heavily armed Indonesian paratroopers.

"We'll give all the help we can," said Reginald Maudling, British chancellor of the exchequer.

Security forces today killed two more Indonesian paratroopers, the Defense Ministry announced.

It brought to four the number of Indonesians killed since an airborne attack in the Labis area, 105 miles southeast of this capital of Malaysia.

The ministry said one member of the security forces was killed and another wounded, the first Malaysian casualties.

The government accused "Communist or Indonesian provocateurs" of trying to incite fresh race rioting between Chinese and Malays in Singapore to divert attention from the airborne strike.

Rahman told a news conference the state of emergency to go into effect Friday is designed to help the government deal with Malaysians acting as Indonesian agents.

Under the emergency, persons found in illegal possessions of arms and explosives would face the "death sentence," Rahman also announced his government has asked the U.N. Security Council to take up what Malaysia has labeled "an act of aggression" by Indonesia.

Asked to clarify his warning about a major invasion by Indonesia, Rahman referred to the order of President Sukarno on Wednesday canceling all leaves for members of the armed forces.

This was indicative of a "threat of further landings," Rahman told reporters.

Sukarno also is expected to make an important statement Continued on Page Two

Depts. Called Machines Politically

RISON, Ark. (AP)—Winthrop Rockefeller charged Wednesday night that the state highway and welfare departments were part of "machine politics" and that Gov. Orval E. Faubus is "talking to organization people while I am talking to people."

Rockefeller spoke at a barbecue on the Jake McEllean farm at New Edinburg, 15 miles south of Rison in Cleveland County. He was frequently interrupted by applause by a crowd of about 700.

"My opposition," Rockefeller said, "who has been in office five terms, has suggested that I would not have time to serve the people of the state if you elected me governor."

"He can look at my calendar any time and see how many nights I've spent outside the state. I won't undertake any job I won't give my all too," Rockefeller said.

"Not long ago, my opposition said the highways were deplorable," Rockefeller said. "It's taken him nine and a half years to realize that."

"The only thing he has used the Welfare Department for is to create fear and uncertainty," Rockefeller said. "You all know the people who are on welfare and they're afraid to say anything because their relatives and their friends are afraid that if they say anything someone will lose their welfare check."

Rockefeller also said Faubus manages to find money for teacher pay raises in election years. The last raise, he said, was only $50 a year.

Faubus Sees More Pay for Teachers

HUGHES, Ark. (AP)—Gov. Orval E. Faubus told a group of school teachers Wednesday night that they can look for pay increases of from $1,000 to $1,500 during the next two years.

The governor said the extra money will be available because of the state's economy is progressing.

Faubus made the promise at Faculty Night at a Hughes civic club. Later he addressed about 400 persons in the high school stadium.

The governor visited Hughes during a swing through northeastern and eastern Arkansas for meetings with county Democratic leaders. He is seeking support for his sixth term campaign against Republican Winthrop Rockefeller.

He told a Democratic group at Hughes that if Rockefeller is elected, Republicans will get key jobs and appointments.

Faubus was scheduled to be in Marianna, De Witt, Clarendon and Lonoke today. He plans to visit all 75 counties.

Doubletalk, Basis for Polite Conversation Everywhere, a Necessity in Political Year

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)—It's time for another double-talk drill.

Double-talk, you will recall, is the art of saying one thing while you're thinking the opposite.

Double-talk is the cement that holds society together. It is the basis of polite conversation everywhere, and of course in an election year we simply couldn't do without it.

Here are a few typical examples:

"No, Gerald, I'm not the least bit sleepy." If this bore doesn't go home soon, I'm going to yawn right in his big fat face.

"Some men say a woman doesn't really become attractive until she's 30." But on, how I wish I was 29 again.

"We want to keep this campaign on a high level. There'll be no mud-slinging on our part." Besides, my opponent has more mud to throw than I do.

"But officer, I know I couldn't have been going 65 miles an hour." I was doing 70 at least.

"This is one party platform that will be carried out." Carried out and buried.

"Can't I cut you another slice of meat, old boy?" The way this guy puts down the groceries,

5 Million Chicks Started in State

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Arkansas producers started 5,071,000 broiler chicks during the week ended Aug. 29.

The Crop Reporting Service announced the figure and said it was three per cent below the figure for the previous week.

The placements included 4,680,000 chicks hatched in Arkansas and 391,000 imports. Arkansas hatcheries exported 332,000 chicks during the week.

Little Rock University Integrated

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Two Negroes have enrolled at Little Rock University, school President Dr. Carey V. Stabler said today, marking desegregation of the private school.

Stabler said two Negro freshmen have been admitted and that more Negro students are expected to apply before registration ends.

Stabler said no limit has been set on how many Negroes can enroll.

"We changed our policy in the middle of last summer," Stabler said.

He said the college board of trustees decided on desegregation to enable the university to continue participation in federal educational programs.

A group of Negro students is being considered for admission, Stabler said, and those that meet entrance requirements will be allowed to enroll.

The school is financed through grants and student tuition. It was a junior college until 1957.

Senate Rejects Substitute for Medicare Plan

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate today passed the bill establishing a health-care program for the elderly under Social Security and increasing cash payments for all those now on the benefit rolls.

The measure was sent back to the House, setting the stage for a dramatic battle to try to enact the health program at this session. The House did not include it in its original bill.

President Johnson was being urged by backers of the program to do everything in his power to try to get the House conferees to go along with at least some of the health plan.

As it passed the Senate, the bill would increase Social Security benefits by more than $3 billion, split about evenly between health care and higher cash benefits.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate today defeated, 64-23, a proposal of Sen. Winston L. Prouty, R-Vt., to raise the minimum monthly Social Security retirement payment from the present $40 to $70.

Prouty offered this as a substitute for the health-care program and the $7-per-month cash benefit increase adopted by the Senate Wednesday in an administration package proposal.

The Prouty amendment was the first to be considered as Senate Democratic leaders drove for passage today of a Social Security bill.

Sen. Mike Mansfield, D-Mont., the majority leader, obtained an agreement to limit debate on all remaining amendments.

Prouty said that, in any event, he thought there was little chance the House would accept it. Continued on Page Two

GOP Candidate Opens Bid in Arizona Talk

By CARL P. LEUBSDORF

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Barry Goldwater formally opened his bid for the White House today in Prescott, Ariz., believing that he is running well behind President Johnson but convinced a ground well is stirring that could carry him to victory by Nov. 3.

A crowd of some 35,000 people—20,000 more than live in the mountain-rommed former Arizona town—gathered to hear the GOP presidential nominee as he got a four-day head start on his Democratic opponent.

The White House announced Wednesday that President Johnson would begin his campaign with a Labor Day speech Monday in Detroit's Cadillac Square where Democrats have traditionally started election drives.

Getting under way in Prescott is something of a tradition for Goldwater. It's where he made his political debut a dozen years ago when he first ran for the Senate, and where he began his successful re-election campaign in 1958.

In his prepared remarks, Goldwater promised to end the draft, keep the peace and halt "the cancerous growth of the federal government."

"Republicans will end the draft altogether, and as soon as possible," Goldwater declared. "That I promise you."

He accused Johnson of using the Selective Service System "for political and social schemes..."—a reference, his press secretary said, to Johnson's program to retrain men rejected in pre-induction physicals.

As Goldwater sped by jetliner to Arizona from Washington, where he voted Wednesday against Johnson's program to put medical care for the aged under Social Security, it was learned that he:

—is not surprised by a sizable Johnson margin reported by his own public opinion pollsters.

—believes that a groundswell of concern, not measured by the polls, is stirring among voters and foretells a change in the Continued on Page Two

Hildebrand Receives a Parole

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Joe Hildebrand, 27, whose efforts to evade law authorities brought him national notoriety, was paroled Wednesday on the condition that felony charges against him in Madison County are dropped.

Hildebrand, who failed to return from a penitentiary leave and hid in the Ozark hills for almost a year, was among 6 convicts paroled Wednesday by the State Pardons and Paroles Board.

Madison County has a warrant charging Hildebrand with burglary and grand larceny. The county has not indicated if it intends to prosecute him.

If it doesn't, Hildebrand would be released to a brother, William, who operates a garage in Uruch, Mo. Hildebrand is a skilled auto mechanic. The parole arrangements must also be approved by Missouri parole officers.

Hildebrand was sent to prison on 1959 after being convicted on a robbery charge. His father was ill in November 1959, when he got the prison leave.

He fled to the hills, and in September of 1960 his wife's niece, Frances Standridge, then 19, joined him. The pair was caught on Oct. 12, 1960.

Hildebrand escaped again in 1962, but State Police arrested him.

Parole officers once said that more persons had filed petitions for Hildebrand's release than for any other prisoner they could remember.

War Threat in

in the next day or so on his campaign to crush Malaysia, which he calls a device to perpetuate British colonialism in Southeast Asia.

The Indonesian-Malaysian situation poses the risk of a disaster that could make the struggle in South Viet Nam seem puny by comparison.

While Indonesian President Sukarno cancels military leaves and talks ominously of an enemy threatening the safety of his nation, the government of Malaysia reports a small airborne Indonesian attack in its mainland.

This could be just one of many feints the Indonesians have been making to show the world they mean to "crush Malaysia." But if one of these feints should go too far—if an attack should look like the real thing—Asia and the world likely would be in for a powerful jolt.

People conversant with the situation say Australia will not tolerate invasion of Malaysia in force.

Those who have discussed the matter with high-ranking Australians see them determined, if necessary, to carry war to the heart of Indonesia with all the power Australia has at its command.

Australia would expect the support of British power which is pledged to the protection of Malaysia, and indeed also would expect U.S. support. All this could present another glimpse over the abyss of World War III.

Australia appears to have been unhappy for a long time with U.S. policy regarding Indonesia, which Australians see as a clear threat to themselves. Indonesia became Australia's next-door neighbor when it took over Dutch New Guinea, which Indonesians call West Irian.

Australians suspect there is no bottom to the appetite of the Sukarno regime and that it needs dangerous adventuring to take its people's minds off the bleak facts of food shortages, fiscal nightmares and economic troubles. Australians need little point to Western aid for a nation whose postures and actions taunt the West.

Since 1950, the United States has supplied $700 million in aid to Indonesia, including military hardware. The Soviet Union provided arms aid, too, and recently agreed to step it up.

As Indonesia grew more hostile to Malaysia, American aid dwindled. No more military equipment was sent. Last month, the Senate voted to ban all further aid.

Glad of Probe Contractor Declares

WASHINGTON (AP)—Matthew H. McCloskey, Philadelphia contractor, says he is glad President Johnson ordered an FBI investigation of charges McCloskey paid a $35,000 kickback on a $20-million contract for D.C. Stadium.

The charge was made by Sen. John J. Williams, R-Del., who told the Senate that $25,000 of the kickback was channeled into the 1950 Kennedy-Johnson campaign fund through Bobby Baker, resigned former secretary to the Senate Democratic majority. Williams said the other $10,000 went to Don B. Reynolds, Washington insurance agent, who handled the performance bond on the stadium contract.

Johnson asked the FBI Tuesday to look into Williams' charges.

Baker, in Los Angeles, where he is vacationing, declined comment on Williams' charge.

McCloskey, former Democratic National Committee finance chairman, resigned recently as ambassador to Ireland, to resume fund-raising activities for the Democratic party.

In a brief statement, he denied any wrongdoing, said he does not want to "try political aspersions in the newspapers" and added:

"I was glad to learn...that the matter has been referred to the Justice Department for investigation."

nation's sentiment.

The Arizona senator believes that even those Republicans—such as New York's Sen. Kenneth B. Keating—who don't care for his candidacy will rally behind him once the intensity of Democratic attacks starts to mount.

Kennedy, fresh from capturing organized labor's endorsement in the senatorial contest, was to resign from President Johnson's Cabinet today.

cept the health plan when the pending bill is returned to that branch.

And House Republican Leader Charles A. Halleck told a news conference the same thing. Halleck was asked about the prospects of a Senate-House conference committee working out some modification of the Senate bill. He said he foresees no compromise that would prove acceptable.

The minimum $70 benefit proposed by Prouty compares with $42 in the bill as it passed the House or $47 in the Gore-Anderson amendment written in to the legislation Wednesday.

Sen. Albert Gore, D-Tenn., won quick adoption today of an amendment slightly modifying the Social Security health-care plan adopted by the Senate Wednesday in the Gore-Anderson amendment.

Under the plan, the government could work through established health organizations such as Blue Cross in paying for services for beneficiaries. The amendment makes it clear that industrial health plans such as that of Kaiser Industries also could be used.

Mansfield said the measure might be passed and sent back to the House late today. If not, he said, final action will come Friday in time for a three-day Labor Day weekend.

The biggest Senate fight on the legislation was settled Wednesday with a dramatic 49-44 vote to add to it hospitalization and other health care benefits for persons over 65.

Increased retirement and other benefits would also be provided, and both the tax rates and the wage base on which they are levied would be raised to meet the added costs.

It was the first time either branch of Congress ever had agreed to write a health care program into the 29-year-old Social Security system. The Senate rejected similar proposals in 1960 and 1962.

The health care amendment, sponsored by Sens. Albert Gore, D-Tenn., and Clinton P. Anderson, D-N.M., was put through with votes of 44 Democrats and 5 Republicans.

Opposed were 16 Democrats, including 15 Southerners and Sen. Frank J. Lausche of Ohio, and 20 Republicans including Sen. Barry Goldwater, his party's presidential nominee.

President Johnson, who strongly supported the Gore-Anderson proposal, said in a statement the vote was "a victory not only for older Americans but for all Americans."

But Goldwater said the action "reveals a contempt for the intelligence and judgment of our people" and implies they "are incapable of deciding how to spend their money." He called it an additional tax burden on wage earners.

The health care amendment was added to a House-passed Social Security bill. It seemed to face highly dubious prospects from the Rocky Mountain states to New England with special emphasis on the Midwest and South.

Rep. William E. Miller, Goldwater's running mate, accompanied the Arizonaan to Prescott, then both headed for Lockport, N.Y., where Miller formally opens his campaign on Saturday.

Plane Crash Results in Lawsuits

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Three lawsuits seeking a total of $960,127 were filed Wednesday in connection with an April 1 plane crash which killed Chris Finkbeiner, board chairman of Arkansas Packing Co., and another company official.

Finkbeiner, 43, who once ran for governor, died when his two-engine plane crashed shortly after takeoff from the Harrison airport. Also killed was Lester Hobbs, sales manager of Arkansas Packing Co.

The administrator of Finkbeiner's estate brought suit for $708,627 against Tulsa Distributors Inc. of Tulsa and Central Flying Service of Little Rock.

The suit contends that the plane crashed because of lack of a safety feature which would enable the pumping of fuel by the fuel pump through air pressure retained in the pump (apparently in the event of engine failure).

The suit said Tulsa sold the plane to Central, which leased it to the packing company and performed maintenance on it.

The suit also said Central failed to detect excessive wear on the propeller shaft rings, which affected the ability of the aircraft to respond in an emergency, and also the alleged fuel pump defect.

A second Finkbeiner suit asked for $15,000 from First Pyramid Life Insurance Co. on a life insurance policy with double indemnity for accidental death. A Finkbeiner attorney said the suit was for $30,000, although only $15,000 was in dispute.

The third suit was filed by Hobbs' widow, as administratrix of her husband's estate. It asked a total of $236,500 from Tulsa and Central, and from the Finkbeiner estate.

Mrs. Hobbs' suit made the Finkbeiner estate a co-defendant on the alleged ground that Finkbeiner negligently banked the plane to the right instead of the left when the right engine stopped running.

All three suits were filed in Pulaski Circuit Court.

Aid Law Study Is About Ready

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Education Commissioner Arch Ford said Wednesday that a study which is expected to recommend modernization of the state's minimum foundation aid law is almost ready.

The study is being made by Dr. Francis Cornell of White Plains, N.Y. It was financed with $15,000 provided by the 1963 Legislature.

The report will go to school officials and the 1965 Legislature which probably will amend the law.

Education sources believe that Cornell, who helped devise the present law, will recommend more equality among the school districts in distribution of minimum foundation funds. The distribution formula is now weighted in favor of smaller districts. A lot of money is involved. The appropriation for minimum foundation aid this year is $46 million.

The current law was adopted in 1957 after passage of a tax increase program which provided new money for schools.

U.S. Steps Up Wheat Shipments

NEW DELHI, India (AP) — The United States is stepping up its shipments of wheat to this hungry nation as heavy monsoon rains multiply the misery by flooding vast areas of valuable cropland.

Indian officials announced Wednesday 80 U.S. ships are being used to rush shipments of surplus American wheat.

They are to bring four million tons between now and February — twice the amount that had been scheduled.

Food shortages have touched off demonstrations throughout India and have resulted in the arrest of thousands of Communist agitators. Police said they have arrested more than 3,490 Communists in the Red stronghold of Kerala State. Most were released after being held for several hours, the police said.

Heavy monsoon rains have hit northern India causing the worst floods in decades.

Authorities estimate that five million acres of vital crops are now under water. About 500,000 persons have been flooded from their homes.

NLRB Ruling for Labor Union

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The National Labor Relations Board's Memphis office has ruled that the United Steelworkers Union won a disputed representation election at the Dow-Smith, Inc., plant in Little Rock. Boyce Love, attorney for the company, said the decision would be appealed to the full NLRB in Washington.

Results of the June 17 election were inconclusive because the union challenged 19 ballots which it said were cast by college students working on a temporary basis. The NLRB regional office invalidated the 19 ballots, leaving the union with a 54-43 victory.

Dow-Smith said it hired 45 college students in June and that it was unfair for the union to challenge votes of 19 of them

Winter suits take on a gentle look this year. Orlon and nylon rope-yarn tweed in gold-to-chamois has brown vertical stripes (left) in this Monte-Sano & Pruzan suit. Side jacket closing, small collar and knife-pleated skirt are featured in the smart suit (right) designed by David Kidd for Arthur Jablow. Orlon and wool are combined in the brick-red, pepper and salt tweed. Skirt is in matching fabric and lined with white beaver.

No Incident in Alabama Integration

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (AP) — Three Negro girls entered previously all-white Jones Valley High School without incident today.

The three drove to the front of the modernistic school building, apparently accompanied by one of their parents.

There were few spectators. Police blocked entrances to the street leading to the school, holding back all but student automobiles.

Students registering for the new term had been entering the building steadily for 45 minutes before the Negroes arrived.

There were no shouts or jeers from any of the some 100 students milling about the yard, or from the score of parents who accompanied their children.

Earlier, police officers had broken up a national States Rights party motorcade before it reached Jones Valley High, one of four Birmingham high schools scheduled for desegregation today.

"Before the motorcade began, party leader Edward Fields said, 'It is our constitutional right to protest the federal court taking over our schools.'"

The motorcade consisted of five automobiles bedecked with Confederate flags and some 12 persons, four of them teenagers.

The Birmingham School Board recently submitted a plan for desegregation of four grades — the first, 10th, 11th and 12th. The plan was accepted by federal court.

County Salary Act
SEARCY, Ark. (AP) — A special commission filed petitions Wednesday to put a county salary act on the November election ballot. The act would cut the White County sheriff's office on a salary basis and reorganize it.

The commission was appointed by the county judge to study modernization of the sheriff's office.

Under the act, the sheriff and deputies would be paid a salary rather than taking their pay from fines and court costs; identification radio departments would be established, and the bookkeeping system and jail operation would be modernized.

and permit the other 26 to vote unchallenged.

To Build School

SEARCY, Ark. (AP) — The Searcy School Board announced plans Wednesday to build a $350,000 elementary school in the Cloverdale section of East Searcy. Residents will vote Sept. 29 on an $800,000 bond issue to finance the construction.

Religious Sect Seeks Court Action

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Four members of a religious sect petitioned the Arkansas Supreme Court Wednesday seeking permission for children who have not been vaccinated for smallpox to attend school at DeWitt.

The petition placed before the court once more case involving a school regulation requiring vaccination before children are admitted to classes. This case involves some 70 pupils.

Last spring the court upheld a chancery judge's ruling that Mr. and Mrs. Archie Cude of near Mena must vaccinate three of their children so they could go to school.

The Cudes argued that vaccination was against their beliefs, based on reading of the Bible. The Supreme Court held that such beliefs do not give parents the right to deny their children an education.

The three Cude children were vaccinated under court order and subsequently enrolled in school at Mena.

The motion initiated Wednesday was filed for Ulysses Wright and three other members of the General Assembly and Church of the First Born. It asked the court to allow children whose parents refuse to

Claims Uncontested

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The state Revenue Department will not contest a $3,559 overpayment of a state franchise tax claimed by a Fort Smith industry, Claims Commission records showed Tuesday.

A Connecticut firm claimed the overpayment in 1961 and 1962 for its subsidiary, Landers Products, Inc., of Fort Smith, makers of small household electrical appliances.

The Revenue Department at first disputed the 1961 claim but said later the firm had produced sufficient information to convince the department its claim was valid.

obey the vaccination rule to attend DeWitt schools until the dispute is settled in court.

Chancellor Lawrence E. Dawson of Pine Bluff issued an order last June requiring the children to be vaccinated.

Tom Gentry of Little Rock, attorney for the parents, said that unless the Supreme Court sets aside Dawson's ruling, many children will be denied the right to attend school. The DeWitt school terms opens Tuesday, and Dawson will argue the motion before the court at 9 a.m. Monday.

Gentry said there are about 500 families in Arkansas County affected by the case. School Supt. Samuel M. King said last March that about 70 pupils in the DeWitt school system had not been vaccinated.

Bobcats After Big Game at Texarkana

By CARTER HARDAGE
Hope Star Sports Editor

Tomorrow night the Bobcats forget about the small stuff and go after really big game in the form of AAA power in Texarkana.

Rated by the Associated Press poll as third in the state, the Hogs are one of the roughest teams that Hope will have to face this season.

Texarkana has a balanced attack with their flip-flop offense, the same one that the Texas Longhorns used last year to win the national championship. This variation of the wing-T is used expressly for power. Both the wingback and the tailback can shift to either side, and in some instances the strong side of the line even switches.

The Hogs will be using the monster defense, as will the Cats.

Bobcat Coach Alan Howard was very explicit about the value of having a big crowd behind the Cats. He states, "Since we are playing the Razorbacks on their home field, they will have a large number of fans there. If we get enough people over there to make some noise, it could have a lot of bearing on the game."

Game time will be 7:30 in Arkansas High's Buhman Field. The following are tentative starting line-ups:

Texarkana Gets Nod Over Hope

By WICK TEMPLE
Associated Press Writer

Fort Smith's Grizzlies, top-ranked in the pre-season Associated Press schoolboy poll, are favored by one touchdown to beat their most bitter rivals, Van Buren's Pointers, in the top game of Friday night's opening Arkansas schoolboy football action.

Van Buren is ranked eighth in the pre-season poll and is generally considered the top team in Region 1AA. Coach Clair Bates says he has his strongest team in years, with 10 offensive starters and eight defensive starters returning.

Fort Smith is not a unanimous favorite to win the Big 12 (Class AAA) championship. Little Rock Central and Texarkana both are rated good enough to take the title. But at the beginning of the season most experts feel the Grizzlies, with their traditional rugged defense, are the toughest.

Some 70 games are scheduled Friday night, including 24 involving Class AAA and Class AA teams. Second-ranked Little Rock Central doesn't open until next week. Third-ranked Texarkana plays Hope, the Region 4AA favorite.

Pine Bluff, defending Class AAA champion weakened by graduation losses but still ranked ninth, meets 10th-ranked Stuttgart, the leading team in 2AA.

Here's a rundown on the top games in AAA and AA, with predicted outcomes:

FORT SMITH 13, Van Buren 6. Van Buren has its best chance in years to whip the Grizzlies, but a hard Fort Smith line led by guard Lyndell Bland should stop the Pointers, and if Fort Smith's offense is ready the score could be higher.

BLYTEVILLE 20, Helena 7. Helena's line leaves something to be desired and Blyteville has a fine triple threat quarterback in Gary Elliott.

JONESBORO 13, Batesville 0. Sheer size and numbers have it, but Batesville has a good running game centered around halfback Mike Jones.

NORTH LITTLE ROCK 7, Forrest City 0. Ken Stephens' young, numerous Wildcats begin a perilous upward journey that should land them near the top of the Big 12 next year.

STUTTGART 14, Pine Bluff 13. Surprising? Maybe, but there should be a lot of surprises this year. Pine Bluff is reorganizing after losing its dream team and Stuttgart has been building for this year.

FAYETTEVILLE 26, Bentonville 13. Quarterback Bob Gardner paces a building Fayetteville team in easy victory over the Tigers, who moved up from A to AA.

HOT SPRINGS 6, Jacksonville 0. Jacksonville lacks depth and Hot Springs, under miracle-making Coach Ben Burton, is going to show more steam than Trojan fans have seen in a long time.

SPRINGDALE 12, Russellville 7. A tossup since both lost heavily at graduation. But Springdale is counting on a good defense.

TEXARKANA 27, Hope 14. Coach Swede Lee's Razorback's come out snorting for the Big 12 title, and a very good Class AA team will just whet their appetite.

PARAGOULD 7, Osceola 6. Osceola has eight starters back after a poor year but Paragould has a good ground game with halfbacks Tom Clark and Bill Ross.

BENTON 20, Searcy 0. Just a warmup for the Panthers, who could win the 3AA West title.

SILVAM SPRINGS 14, Fort Smith Southside 7.

HARRISON 6, Berryville 0.

HUNTSVILLE 20, Prairie Grove 6.

WYNNE 19, DeWitt 7.

Orioles Keep Slim Lead on Pappas Hurling

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer

Zorro has left his mark on Milt Pappas. Pappas pitched no-hit ball for 7 2-3 innings and wound up with a one-hitter as the Baltimore Orioles maintained their slim, one-half game grip on the American League lead by edging Minnesota 2-0 Wednesday night.

The unkind cut was administered with two out in the eighth by Twins shortstop Zoilo Zorro Versalles, who swung at a first-pitch fastball and ripped it between third and short to deprive Pappas of a no-hitter.

Pappas admitted after the game that he had given Versalles a fat fastball, losing a battle of wits.

"It was one of those funny situations," said the 25-year-old right-hander. "The first two batters in the eighth hit the first pitch. It was a 1,000-to-1 chance that Versalles would swing at the first pitch, too."

"I threw it right down the middle, and I was surprised when he swung at it."

Pappas had no other difficulties as he struck out 10 and allowed only one other base runner—Earl Battey walked on four straight pitches in the third inning—while bringing his record to 13-5 with his sixth shut-out.

Still, he had to share the pitching spotlight with three others.

Gary Peters kept the second-place Chicago White Sox right behind the Orioles, bringing his record to 16-7 with a five-hit shutout in a 7-0 victory over Detroit.

Dean Chance of the Los Angeles Angels posted his ninth shutout and his 17th victory over New York that dropped the third-place Yankees three games off the pace.

And Lee Stange made the most of a rare opportunity, fanning a major league record by striking out four batters in an inning as Cleveland walloped Washington 9-0.

In the other AL game, Kansas City outslugged Boston 9-5. National League leading Philadelphia edged Houston 2-1, Cincinnati blanked the Chicago Cubs 1-0 in 12 innings, St. Louis whipped Milwaukee 6-2, San Francisco shut out New York's Nets 4-0 and the Los Angeles Dodgers defeated Pittsburgh 5-5 in 12 innings.

The Orioles supported Pappas with only four hits but two were homers, by Sam Bowens in the second and Luis Aparicio in the ninth. Both were off Dick Stigman.

Peters pitched his third shut-out, drove in one run with a single and also collected a double. He knocked home the final run of a four-run fifth inning uprising that put it out of reach after Bill Skowron supplied the big hit with a two-run single.

The White Sox had actually scored enough for Peters in the second inning when an error and doubles by Pete Ward and Mike Hershberger produced two runs off Hank Aguirre.

Chance, the major league leader in shutouts, is now tied with Chicago's Juan Pizarro for the most victories in the AL after boosting his record to 17-6 by snapping the Yankees' four-game winning streak.

Chance got all the support he needed when Joe Adcock followed an error and Willie Smith's double in the fourth inning with his 18th homer and No. 301 in his career. That tagged the loss on Jim Bouton, who had held the Angels scoreless for 40 consecutive innings.

Stange allowed only two hits and struck out 10 - four in the seventh inning—before Don McMahon relieved him in the eighth and preserved the Indians 11th victory in 12 games. Max Alvis, Bob Chance and Leon Wagner, meanwhile, supplied the support with homers.

Stange struck out Don Lock leading off the seventh, but a passed ball by Joe Azcue enabled Lock to reach first. Stange then whiffed Willie Kirkland, gave up a single to Mike Brunney, and finished by fanning Don Zimmer and John Kennedy.

The Red Sox aided the A's with two errors and a wild pitch contributing to the Kansas City scoring although Boston got two homers from Lee Thomas and one from Felix Mantilla. Jim Gentile hit his 25th homer for the A's.

Britain Is Experiencing Crime Boom

By RICHARD KASISCHKE

LONDON (AP) — Britain is experiencing a crime boom. The cleverest lawbreakers this country has ever known are reversing an old axiom to prove that crime does pay.

Last year's highlight was the $7-million great train robbery in Buckinghamshire, the biggest cash crime in history, carried off with breath-taking precision.

This year may be known as the big escape year. Hardly a day passes but escapes are reported.

No. 1 escapee was Charles Frederick Wilson, one of the train robbers who had hardly settled in the maximum security cell where he was sentenced to spend 30 years in solitary. His bloodless delivery by a slick gang was so notorious that newspapers began referring to Harold Wilson, chief of the Labor party, as "the other" less-known Wilson.

The great train robbery and the Wilson escape opened Britons' eyes to the fact that this country's criminals through the years have been outracing the law.

It is estimated that the chances of a holdup man in London will be caught and convicted today is 3-1 in the criminal's favor. For house burglars the rate is 6-1 and for auto thieves as high as 10-1.

A Cambridge University professor of criminology estimates that not more than 15 per cent of crime committed in Britain is brought into the open for punishment.

Even when a criminal is caught his chances of escaping justice "never fall below 50 per cent," according to a Cambridge Institute study.

Before World War II the conviction rate in Britain was always over 50 per cent, the study noted.

It is estimated more than $76 million worth of property will be stolen or obtained by fraud this year.

British criminologists and the newspapers have been noting with interest that United States police are using computers to fight crime gangs—to trap them with machine data that forecasts thrusts in advance.

This may not work in Britain because there are few permanent criminal gangs here. British crime rings, a study reported, generally are composed of individual criminals brought together for a specific job and disbanded afterward. They recruit the extra men needed.

The gangs organized to do the big jobs—such as London West End jewel shop breaks—get the best tools. They have tackled safes with thermal lance, capable of 5,500-degree heat thrust. Police experts say that gangs will lay out $10,000 for equipment to stage some jobs.

Redlegs Keep Pace; St. Louis Downs Braves

By MURRAY CHAS
Associated Press Sports Writer

Fortunately for Cincinnati, Mel Queen doesn't quite follow in his father's footsteps.

Queen, a rookie lashed only a single that drove in the only run of the game in the Reds' 1-0 victory over Chicago in 12 innings Wednesday night. The triumph kept the second-place Reds 5½ games behind Philadelphia in the National League pennant race.

The 21-year-old right fielder is the son of Mel Queen, a pitcher who compiled a 27-40 lifetime record with the New York Yankees and the Pittsburgh Pirates in the 1940's and early 1950's.

Luckily for the elder Queen, he was a pitcher. He certainly couldn't have reached the majors in his hitting. In eight seasons, he somehow managed to get 17 hits in 164 times at bat for a .104 average. He also batted in four runs in his career.

Young Queen went 23 for 46 Wednesday, raising his average to .218 and his RBI total to 11. He has compiled the record mostly as a pinch hitter. Only recently has he been playing somewhat regularly.

In other NL games, Philadelphia edged Houston 2-1, San Francisco blanked New York 4-0, St. Louis defeated Milwaukee 6-2 and Los Angeles downed Pittsburgh 8-5 in 12 innings.

In the American League, Baltimore beat Minnesota 2-0, Chicago walloped Detroit 7-0, Los Angeles stopped New York 4-0, Cleveland trampled Washington 9-0 and Kansas City defeated Boston 9-5.

Queen's single in the 12th inning followed singles by pinch hitter Mary Keough and Chico Ruiz. It gave Jim O'Toole, who pitched a seven-hitter, his 14th victory in 20 decisions. Bob Buhl allowed the Reds five hits in the first eight innings.

Chris Short hurled a four-hitter, posting his 15th triumph against seven losses for the Phillies, who won the game in the fourth inning. Wes Covington and Clay Dalrymple singled, were sacrificed to second and third and scored on Tony Taylor's single to center field.

The Colts scored in the sixth when Eddie Kasko walked, went to second on Mike White's single and came around on a single by Bob Aspromonte.

Juan Marichal made only his second start since July 29 and stopped the Mets on four hits. Marichal, now 16-6, had been bothered by a back ailment Tom Haller slammed a homer in the fourth inning while Hal Lanier singled across two runs in the ninth.

The Cardinals won their eighth game in the last nine behind Bob Gibson's seven-hitter. Gibson, 13-10, was backed by Ken Foye, and Curt Flood, who each knocked in two runs. Two errors by Denis Menke helped St. Louis to three runs in

DOWN AND DOWN—Some persons jump for joy, but some jump for a living; they are the paratroopers. And science is continually trying to help them get down in better ways. At left, shuttlecock-shaped "Paracone" has been designed to replace the chute. It is gas-inflated and will fall open-end upwards, with the jumper or jumpers riding inside on an inflatable mattress. The "Paracone" would protect against enemy fire and act as a lifeboat in water, an igloo in polar regions or a shield against the sun. At right, is another new development, a steerable parachute designed to allow forward motion and acceleration or deceleration. A forward speed of 13 miles an hour could be obtained. Shape of the

Scuba Divers Get Bends While Flying

OKLAHOMA CITY, Okla. (AP)—A small airplane cleared the end of the airport runway, climbing rapidly. The altimeter indicator rotated slowly as the pilot pointed the nose of the aircraft into a climb.

The pilot, his wife and two children had been enjoying a few days at one of the large Oklahoma lakes.

A half hour before take-off, the man had taken a final scuba (for self-contained underwater breathing apparatus) dive.

When the altimeter of the plane reached the 3,000-foot reading, the pilot lunged forward—complaining of sharp pains in his knee and elbow.

The explanation, in essence, is that pilots who scuba dive should allow adequate time to elapse before they get behind the controls of a plane.

The pilot was a victim of the bends—a condition commonly associated with divers who move too quickly from a deep location to the surface of the water.

The situation—and the people described here are hypothetical. But the Federal Aviation Agency says it is based on records of private airplane accidents and facts gleaned from their investigations. The FAA says there are recorded instances of private pilots suffering the bends while flying after scuba diving some recovered sufficiently to land safely, others crashed.

Can a man who dives in relatively shallow water also become so afflicted when he goes up in an aircraft too soon?

Scientists at the Federal Aviation Agency's aeromedical research center here says there is very real danger of severe pains and possibly blacking out and death.

One well known law of physics, called Henry's Law, tells what happens of the human body in circumstances such as those encountered by the pilot. It says, "The amount of gas dissolved in the human body is directly proportionate to the pressure on the body."

In layman's language, if a person was under pressure, say at 100 feet of water, certain gases are absorbed in the body. If that pressure is rapidly lightened, the gas is apt to form bubbles in the blood stream.

That is what happens in the bends. Nitrogen bubbles form in the blood stream and seem to stop in the joints. Intense pain results.

Need Jurors in Beckwith Murder Case

CLARENDON, Ark. (AP)—Proceedings in the first-degree murder trial of Paul Louis Beckwith, 42, a Negro were halted Wednesday after a panel of 92 jurors was exhausted with only 11 jurors selected. One of those elected was a Negro.

Beckwith is charged in the 10-year-old slaying of Mrs. Sue Fuller of Brinkley. Mrs. Fuller, who was 25, died Dec. 12, 1954 from a blow on the head.

Beckwith was charged with the slaying eight years later, although he was one of several persons questioned immediately after the slaying. Police said an undercover agent was placed in his prison cell at the Missouri State penitentiary at Jefferson City, where Beckwith was serving a seven-year term for rape.

Mrs. Fuller was found beside her blood-soaked bed by her husband, and she died later. A doctor said she had not been raped.

Beckwith was held in county jail here for nearly two years while his attorneys fought bringing the case to court, because he was not brought to trial within three terms of court.

The state Supreme Court ruled that Beckwith had to stand trial.

Chicago Cafe Owners Are Thug Victims

CHICAGO (AP)—Frightened restaurant owners have called for federal action to halt the 2½-year assault on Chicago businesses by arsonists and bombers who have caused $275 million damage.

Laurence Buckmaster, executive director of the Chicago and Illinois Restaurant Association, appealed directly Wednesday to Sen. John L. McClellan, D-Ark., head of the Senate Rackets Committee, to reopen hearings into the wave of restaurant attacks. The committee investigated an earlier outbreak of restaurant fires in 1958.

The latest victim of the terrorists, Joseph Wilkos, whose restaurant was bombed Tuesday night, also called for federal assistance.

The bombing of Wilkos' restaurant was the 74th uninvolved bombing or arson fire in the Chicago area in the last 32 months. For Wilkos it was the third time in three months that one of his chain of restaurants has been bombed.

Wilkos, 60, said he telephoned Rep. Harold Collier, R-Ill., in Washington to ask the FBI to investigate.

"When the FBI gets into something they get to the bottom of it," he said. "I think that if they would investigate, this could be the answer."

In Washington Collier agreed the situation "has reached a point where the FBI should be in on it."

Local officials planned to impanel a special grand jury today to investigate the bombings. State's Attorney Daniel P. Ward said that Wilkos would be one of the first witnesses.

Labor Accent on Fringe Benefits

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst
NEW YORK (AP)—Labor is putting the accent on fringe benefits even more this year than last. That is evident in contracts already reached and in the auto labor talks now in the spotlight.

Wages have been scaled upward in many pacts negotiated so far in 1964. But the average increase has been down slightly from the median set in the 1963 contracts.

Labor has made the most notable gains along the fringes, especially in pension and insurance plans, and to a somewhat less degree in shorter work weeks and longer vacations. On average, the new contracts have kept fairly well inside the guidelines on wages and costs that the administration has advanced as a block to further inflation.

As the auto labor talks near a showdown set for after Labor Day, the stock market has been betting on an agreement instead of a strike. The auto companies are planning greater output in September than usual for this month. Management also seems to be counting on a new pact by the deadline, after the customary last minute infighting.

When a settlement is reached, the big question will be: How much? And, in the case of the auto union, too, the pressure has been largely on gaining ground around the fringes.

The terms that finally are reached, with or without a strike, will affect bargaining in many other industries. This could extend into next year when the steel labor contracts come up again.

In the first half of the year 1,488 settlements showed a median wage rise of 7.6 cents an hour, the Bureau of National Affairs reports. In the first six months of 1963 the average was 6 cents. The range was wide—all the way from no wage increase in 9 per cent of the pacts to more than 15 cents an hour in 8 per cent of them.

Fringe activity was brisker this year than last. Revised pension and insurance plans were included in 44 per cent of the contracts, and new plans in 21 per cent.

Fringe benefits can be just as costly to management as higher wage scales. In times of a slowdown in business activity, these benefits can be comparatively more costly.

Cookouts in Order on Labor Day

The nation's groceries are featuring cook-out and sandwich fare for Labor Day outings this weekend.

For the grill, offerings include ground beef, broiler-fryers and spare ribs.

For sandwiches, special attractions include hams, smoked butts, bacon and cold cuts.

Hams are selling at 35 cents a pound for shank ends in the Northeastern outlets of one chain.

West Coast prices for both beef and pork are up strongly at wholesale while East Coast prices tend to be lower than a week ago for most categories.

Among fresh vegetables, main attractions include cabbage, carrots, celery, eggplant, lettuce, onions, potatoes, tomatoes, fresh sweet corn and squash.

Best fruit offerings include apples, cantaloupes, grapes, peaches and pears, plums, prunes and honeydew melons.

Negroes Will Have More to Say at Polls

By AUSTIN SCOTT
NEW YORK (AP)—The nation's 20 million Negroes will have more say at the polls this November than ever before, a nationwide survey showed today.

The reason—a history making emphasis on voter registration in the civil right movement. Some registration drives started in 1962.

Despite a lack of official figures, leaders of campaigns from New York to Los Angeles generally claim excellent response. Many aim their campaigns at the defeat of Republican presidential nominee Barry Goldwater.

But there are indications that in some areas, particularly in the South, that whites also are flocking to the registrar's office in ever-increasing numbers.

Negro registration gains in 11 Southern states, placed at more than half a million by a sponsoring biracial agency, have been accompanied by larger gains in white registration in some areas.

In the North, where voter registration efforts centered mainly in the larger cities, there was no estimate of the total number of Negroes registered. Most cities reported increased registration from predominantly Negro areas.

James Farmer, national director of the Congress of Racial Equality, said there are nearly five million registered Negroes out of a potential 12 million, with three million of them in the North.

The country's Negro population is just about evenly split, North and South, he said.

An Associated Press survey showed no official breakdown of Negro and white voters is recorded in seven of the 11 Dixie states. In the four where breakdowns were available—Florida, Arkansas, Louisiana and Virginia—Negro registration showed an increase.

The council report said increases since 1960 in Negro registration in some Southern states since 1960 in Negro registration by which one or the other of the presidential candidates carried those states in 1960.

No Northern cities where major drives are being held keep separate registration totals for Negroes and Whites, but most

Arkansas Saw the Feet of Sgt. York

TEXARKANA, Ark. (AP)—A retired insurance man from Texarkana, John Holman, witnessed the legendary capture of 132 German soldiers by Sgt. Alvin C. York, who died Wednesday at Nashville, Tenn.

"It looked like the whole German Army when he marched toward us. He wanted somebody to take charge of all those prisoners, and nobody wanted to do it. He was stuck with them," Holman said.

Holman said York made the mass capture by pointing a gun at a German commander and ordering him to tell his men to surrender, or be shot.

officials reported increased registration.

Warm Weather Prevails in State

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Arkansas had clear skies, warm temperatures and low humidity again today, but thundershowers were forecast for the northwest section Friday.

The Weather Bureau said the rest of the state should continue with the same general weather conditions through Friday.

Wednesday's high temperatures ranged between the high 80s in the north and the mid 90s in the south. Overnight low temperatures were generally in the comfortable 60s.

No rain was reported in the 24-hour period ending at 6 a.m. today.

Bob Thomas at the Movies

By BOB THOMAS

AP Movie-Television Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Walt Disney has achieved his happiest live-action film with "Mary Poppins," which will bring joy to the screen for years to come.

At least one previewer has predicted the same longevity for it as the evergreen hit, "Wizard of Oz."

Disney put a lifetime of wizardry into "Mary Poppins," achieving with human actors the same happy qualities he injected into his cartoon creations. Indeed, the "Poppins" people are like cartoon characters—sharply drawn, imaginative and unhampered by such a nagging matter as gravity.

The film is pure fantasy, although the tale purports to happen to an earth-bound English family in 1910. The fact that supernatural things happen without explanation may bother some moviegoers. There is no relation to reality—as with "Wizard of Oz," which opened and closed with a normal Kansas setting.

As any reader of the Mary Poppins books knows, the heroine is an English nanny who comes to the rescue of a dazzled family. It consists of a pugnacious bank clerk David Tomlinson, his light-headed suffragette wife Glenis Johns and two governess-terrorizing children Karen Dotrice, Matthew Garber.

Into their disarray comes Miss Poppins, who can set any household in order. Especially when she can command toys to put themselves away in the nursery.

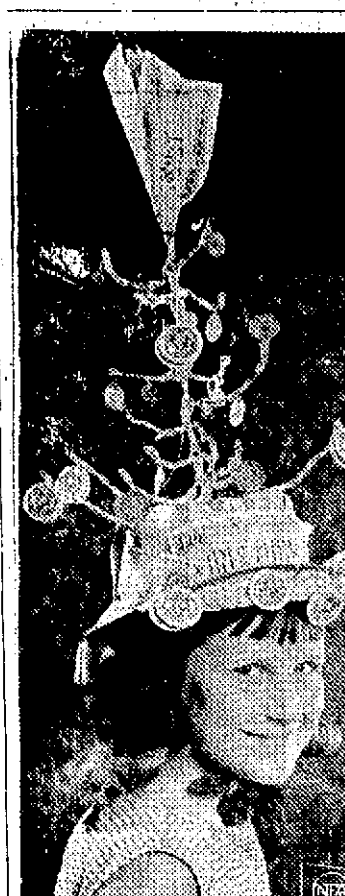

Mary's partner in the world of fantasy is a puckish chimney-sweep who with the children eggs her on to feats of levitation.

Disney could hardly have made a more inspired choice of the two major stars. It now seems inconceivable that Hollywood could have neglected Julie Andrews for so many years after her hit with "My Fair Lady." Her fresh beauty and manner make her an instant star for films.

Dick Van Dyke, lost in "Bye Bye Birdie" and wasted in "What a Way to Go," now establishes himself as a versatile

Views of LBJ on Variety of Issues

WASHINGTON (AP) — Following are the views of President Johnson on a variety of issues, as expressed in speeches, magazine articles, news conferences and other public remarks and messages:

AGRICULTURE

In a nationwide television broadcast April 24, 1956, speaking in reply to a speech by President Dwight D. Eisenhower on his veto of a Democratic farm bill, Senate Majority Leader Johnson said:

"Since 1952, wages have gone up; corporate dividends have gone up; the entire national income has gone up. But the income of the farmer has gone down 26 per cent."

"The worker who is making refrigerator and television sets will sooner or later be out of work if there is no one to buy refrigerators and television sets. But if the farmer can't make a living, the farmer can't buy these things. If he can't buy them, that cuts the market down. And that means workers will be thrown out of jobs."

"The farmer's income must be bolstered, not only for the farmer's sake, but for your sake. Otherwise we may spin out another depression."

In a message to congress on Agriculture, Jan. 31, 1964, Johnson said:

"The agricultural commodity programs developed during the past 30 years have served us well. They are now an indispensable bulwark of our agricultural economy. Without them our food supply would be much less secure than it is today."

"But they are in need of improvement. New conditions arising from the technological revolution in agriculture present a special challenge—a challenge based upon the problems of abundance rather than scarcity."

"We must also look beyond agriculture to rural America as a whole. Fifty-five million Americans live in rural areas. Too many of them have not had an opportunity to acquire the education, skills and earning power which their talents warrant. For too many of them the rural environment has proved a hindrance to a full life, rather than the advantage it rightly can be. We have made great progress in recent years—but we can and must do better."

CIVIL RIGHTS

On March 9, 1949, speaking of a proposal by President Harry S. Truman for a civil rights law, Sen. Johnson told the Senate:

"This civil rights question brings into play all those strong and evil forces of racial prejudice. Perhaps no prejudice is so contagious or so dangerous as the unreasoning prejudice against men because of their birth, the color of their skin, or their ancestral background. Racial prejudice is dangerous because it is a disease of the majority, endangering minority groups."

"When we of the South arise here to speak against the civil rights proposals, we are not speaking against the Negro race. We are not attempting to keep alive the old flames of hatred and bigotry. We are, instead, trying to prevent those flames from being rekindled. We are trying to tell the rest of the nation that this is not the way to accomplish what so many want to do for the Negro."

In a speech at San Angelo, Tex., Dec. 12, 1958, Johnson said he was opposed to forced integration, but he added:

"We're a little late in our section in recognizing that all men are created equal. I wish the hotheads on both sides would give us a chance to evolve a solution to this problem."

In explaining his vote for the 1957 civil rights bill, Johnson said, "I voted for the civil rights bill because I think everyone ought to have the right to vote, whether he's white or brown or black."

In early 1959, Senate Majority Leader Johnson came up with his own civil rights proposals, including a provision for a Community Relations Service. He explained this in a Texas radio speech, Feb. 8, 1959:

"Basically, the duty of the Community Relations Service would be to provide conciliation assistance where conflicts regarding constitutional rights are disrupting or threatening to disrupt peaceful relations in the community."

As vice president, in a speech at Wayne State University, Mich., Jan. 6, 1963, Johnson discussed the Civil War and said:

"Today, as then, we are engaged in a great struggle. We too hear counsel urging restraint and urging delay. We too are counseled that for the government of the United States to concern itself with the equality of its citizens invites the risk of impairing the chance for success in our struggle to uphold the cause of freedom in the world."

"The counsel of delay is not the counsel of courage. A government conceived and dedicated to the purpose that all men are born free and equal cannot pervert its mission by rephrasing the purpose to suggest that men shall be free today—but shall be equal a little later."

On Nov. 27, 1963, in his first speech as President to a joint session of Congress, Johnson said:

"No memorial oration or eulogy could more eloquently honor President Kennedy's memory than the earliest possible passage of the civil rights bill for which he fought so long. We have talked long enough in this country about equal rights. We have talked for 100 years or more. It is time now to write the next chapter, and to write it in the books of law."

On July 2, as he signed the civil rights bill, Johnson said:

"Americans of every race and color are needed to build a nation of widening opportunities. Now our generation of Americans has been called on to continue the unending search for justice within our borders."

On July 28, 1964, in a speech to a group of educators at the White House, Johnson said:

"We must and shall maintain respect for law and order in America, but democracy never has and never will solve its problems at the end of a billy club. Our land is young, our strength is great, our course is far from run, yet there is discontent among our people reaching through our whole society."

CUBA

In a speech March 24, 1964, to the AFL-CIO Building and Construction Trades Conference in Washington, Johnson departed from his prepared text to say this about Cuba:

"The water problem that disturbed us at Guantanamo was solved not by a battalion of Marines bayoneting their way in to turn on the water, but we sent a single admiral over to cut it off. I can say to you that our base is self-sufficient. By lean readiness, a source of danger and disagreement has been removed."

On April 20, 1964, speaking to the annual meeting of The Associated Press in New York, he had this to say about Cuba:

"The use of Cuba as a base for subversion and terror is an obstacle to our hopes for the hemisphere. Our first task must be, as it has been of them, to isolate Cuba from the inter-American system, frustrate its efforts to destroy free governments, and expose for all to see the ugliness of communism. That policy is working. The problems of this hemisphere would be far more serious if Castro sat in the councils of the OAS, disrupting debate and blocking decision—if he had open channels of trade and communications along which subversion and terror could flow—if his economy had been a successful model rather than a dismal warning. The effectiveness of our policy is more than a matter of trade statistics. It has increased awareness of difference and danger, revealed the brutal nature of the Cuban regime, lessened opportunities for subversion, reduced the number of Castro's followers, and drained the resources of our adversaries."

DEFENSE

In a Senate speech, July 12, 1950, speaking of the Korean War which had just broken out, Johnson said:

"There is no cheap way out. There is, in fact, no way out short of total victory."

"We cannot compromise; we cannot escape; we cannot continue to retreat."

"For too long, we have been more interested in making our books balance than in making our strength balance against the military power of communism."

In an interview in U.S. News & World Report in April 1952, Johnson complained again about economy efforts hurting defense. He said:

"But in the field of aircraft production, I think it is fair to say we have lost almost three years as a result of the 1948 decision to impound funds that Congress appropriated to keep the plants tooled up and productive."

"There's enough blame to go around. The decision to impound funds was a mistake. The decision by Congress a year later not to carry through on the issue was another mistake, and the failure of the country to rise up and insist that Congress take the leadership was still another."

In a Senate speech Jan. 23, 1958, Johnson said:

"There can be no adequate defense for the United States except in a reservoir of trained and educated minds."

"Even more important, however, is the fact that there can be no security for the United States or any other country in weapons. The most accurate and destructive missile yet conceived can bring us nothing but a stalemate."

"We prefer a stalemate to defeat and slavery. Let there be no mistake about that."

SWEETIE PIE

ceeded. If the threat of war has lessened, it is largely because our opponents realize attack would bring destruction. This effort has been costly. But the costs of weakness are far greater than the costs of strength, and the payment was far more painful. That is why, in the last three years, your government has strengthened the whole range of America's defenses—increasing defense spending by $17 billion."

DISARMAMENT

In a speech June 8, 1957, to the annual conference of the United Jewish Appeal in New York, Johnson said:

"The intercontinental ballistic missile with a hydrogen warhead is just over the horizon. It is no longer just the disorderly dream of some science-fiction writer."

"We must assume that our country will have no monopoly on this weapon. The Soviets have not matched our achievements in democracy and prosperity; but they have kept pace with us in building the tools of destruction."

"We must initiate action on five objectives, each contributing to our crusade for disarmament:

- "1. Controlled reduction of military forces by all countries.
- "2. A start on a mutual 'open skies,' foolproof inspection system.
- "3. A frank and open search for a method of suspending tests of the biggest nuclear weapons, under airtight conditions which give full protection against violations.
- "4. A reduction of everyone's stockpile of nuclear weapons and means for delivery under copper-riveted methods of mutual inspection.
- "5. And this is the key to ultimate hope: A worldwide agreement—backed by absolute safeguards—that no nation will make any new fissionable materials for weapons purposes—neither the three present nuclear powers nor those who may soon have the capacity."

On Jan. 21, 1964, President Johnson said in a speech to Congress:

"Agreement on the control and reduction and the ultimate abolition of weapon and war is not impossible as it seemed for so many years. We now have a limited nuclear test ban treaty. We now have an emergency communication link, a hot line between Washington and Moscow. We now have an agreement in the United Nations to keep bombs out of outer space."

"These are all small steps, but they go in the right direction, the direction of security and sanity and peace. Now we must go further."

ECONOMY AND TAXES

On March 6, 1958, discussing a Democratic proposal to speed up public works to ease the recession, Johnson told the Senate:

"Congress has granted complete authority and ample funds for a wide range of construction projects, both civil and military. These funds at the present time are being spent on the basis of a normal economy."

"But there is nothing normal about an economy which cannot find jobs for five million willing workers. There is nothing normal about a situation in which we are losing the productive capacity of five million men and women."

In an April 29, 1959, speech before the U.S. chamber of Commerce in Washington, he said:

"I believe that any year is one in which the government should strive to put its book in balance. I do not believe this is a policy which should be trotted out of the closet only when a presidential election is in the offing."

On April 28, 1964, speaking to a White House dinner for business leaders, Johnson said:

"It is too early to make firm

"In this age when there can be no losers in peace and no victors in war, we must recognize the obligation to match national strength with national restraint. We must be prepared at one and the same time for both the confrontation of power and the limitation of power. We must be ready to defend the national interest and to negotiate the common interest. This is the path that we shall continue to pursue."

LABOR

On June 17, 1958, commenting on legislation introduced following the revelations of the Senate racketeering committee, Johnson told the Senate:

"This legislation was needed from many standpoints. First, it was necessary to protect the victims of crooks and racketeers. Second, it was necessary to help honorable union leaders who found that the situation was beyond control."

"Above all, it was necessary to protect the public interest in sound and honest labor-management relations."

"At a news conference April 11, 1964, after the announcement that unions and the railroads would continue to negotiate their dispute rather than having a nationwide strike, Johnson said:

"It is fundamental to our whole idea of civilized society that we settle disputes by a meeting of the minds, by a free interchange of conflicting ideas, by responsible acceptance of the best possible solution. This is what happens at the collective bargaining table."

"There is in any large scale dispute a question of public interest. This interest must always be overriding. But we must never delude ourselves that we are serving the public interest if at any time we suppress the legitimate rights of the conflicting parties."

NATO

On April 6, 1961, Vice President Johnson spoke in Paris on the 10th anniversary of the establishment of North Atlantic Treaty Organization headquarters. He said:

"No single nation has enough influence and power to maintain this spacious environment of freedom. The coalition of the peoples and nations of Western Europe and North American is indispensable to this end. Without their power—the resultant of population, resources, technology, and will—it cannot be preserved."

On April 4, 1964, in response to a news conference question whether the actions of French President Charles de Gaulle were splitting the Western alliance, Johnson said:

"No I do not believe that the Western alliance is being split. I think we have differences in the alliance from time to time between countries and between spokesmen and leaders of those countries. Just as we have differences among ourselves from time to time. But on the serious problems, as I have said before, when the chips are down, whether it is Berlin, whether it is Cuba, or what not, we think that the alliance and the family will all be together. We will effectively defend freedom wherever it is challenged."

In a news conference on April 23, 1964, Johnson said:

"I am glad to report that our decision to cut back on the production of unneeded nuclear materials, and the parallel announcements of Chairman Khrushchev and Prime Minister Douglas-Home have been warmly greeted throughout the world and by responsible opinion in this country. We have made it clear that these announcements do not constitute an international agreement of contract of any sort. This is a policy of restraint by mutual example."

On July 24, 1964, in response to a news conference question about Sen. Barry Goldwater's proposal to give the NATO commander more discretion over the use of tactical nuclear weapons, Johnson said:

"The control of the nuclear weapons is one of the most solemn responsibilities of the President. The man who is president can never get away from that responsibility and can never forget it. The American people rely on his good judgment. They want that authority vested in a civilian. They do not expect to abandon this duty to military men in the field, and I don't think that they have ever seriously considered that since the Founding Fathers drafted our Constitution."

"I believe that the final responsibility for all decisions on nuclear weapons must rest with the civilian head of this government, the President of the United States, and I think and reiterate that I believe that is the way the American people want it."

POVERTY

"In this political democracy, what you have and what you own and what you acquire is not secure when there are men that are idle in their homes and there are young people adrift in the streets, and when there are thousands that are out of school and millions that are out of work, and the aged are lying embittered in their beds."

U.S., German Relations Not All Harmony

By PETER REHAK

FRANKFURT, Germany (AP) — Pick a young soldier from among the 250,000 U.S. troops stationed in Germany and ask what he thinks of Germans. He may reply that they are rude and loud, drive their cars too fast and try to cheat Americans out of their last penny.

A German civilian's assessment of a GI will tend to be equally uncomplimentary. Officially this comes under the heading of German-American relations and officially there is no problem. The policies of both countries call for friendly contact between civilians and GIs.

Usually the GI and the German come in contact only with the other's worst side. Add language difficulties and differences in custom and you end up with a problem.

A soldier recently wrote a long letter to an American newspaper complaining about German rudeness and disrespect toward GIs. He said: "When I have a guest in my house I try to treat him with a certain consideration — as I expect him to treat me — but I'll be damned if it can be all-one sided."

On the same day, a German newspaper columnist enumerated the fruitless attempts by one resident to get introduced to an American military family with whom he could meet socially.

"Why doesn't the guy just walk up to a serviceman on the street and ask him to his home for supper?" asked a GI when shown the article.

"What? Without an introduction?" countered a German. As a result of the column the German was invited to an American social function.

Most soldiers and dependents live in a world of their own. When the Army first marched into the war-shattered country, it brought everything it needed for daily survival. U.S. living areas were surrounded by barbed wire and official policy forbade fraternization.

Most of the living quarters are still around. The barbed wire is gone but a self-sufficient American community remains separate from the German one. Theoretically, it is possible for a GI to remain within this American community during his entire tour of duty here. While the American facilities prevent overcrowding of German areas they are not conducive to mixing with the population.

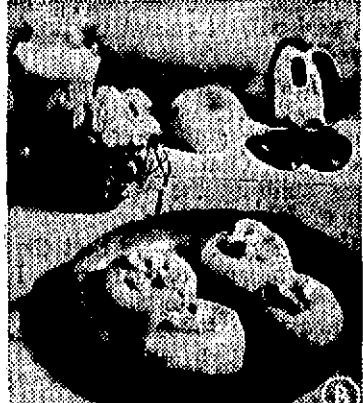

How then do they make contacts?

There's always the young bachelor who seeks amusement off the base. Often he'll head for a tavern where the barmen and B-girls are ready for him.

Since draftees range in age from 18 to 23, the young man is probably ill-equipped to cope with a smoothly running club joint. That a German would get clipped here too is a small consolation.

Even worse off is the married soldier who is not eligible to house his family in government quarters. If he brings them overseas, he has to find a place to live in German areas.

Whole Sweet Onions Hold Pimientos-Shrimp

Large, sweet Spanish-type onions, heaped to the brim with bits of tasty pink shrimp, pretty red pimientos, rice, and a touch of celery and green pepper, make an easy-to-prepare entree or special side dish. A whole shrimp and strips of pimiento across each onion top add both eye and taste appeal.

- Shrimp-Pimiento Stuffed Onions
- 2 lbs. fresh or frozen shrimp, or 2 (8 or 10 oz.) packages
  - 8 large Spanish-type onions
  - 1 cup dry bread crumbs
  - 1/2 cup chopped green pepper
  - 1/2 cup chopped celery
  - 2 cups cooked rice
  - 1 can or jar (4 oz.) pimientos, drained and diced
  - Salt and pepper
- If necessary, shell and devein shrimp. Cook by boiling in salted water 3 to 5 minutes. Slit onions in water to cover 1 hour until tender. Slice off tops of onions and remove centers. Chop these centers. Save 8 whole shrimp for garnishing and chop the remainder. Combine chopped shrimp and diced pimientos with the bread crumbs, green pepper, celery and rice, and season with salt and pepper. Fill onions with this mixture. Dot tops with butter and bake in greased baking dish at 400 degrees for 10 minutes, or until thoroughly heated. Garnish with cooked whole shrimp and strip of pimiento. Serves 8.

He runs into a seller's market. Furnished places with short-term leases are scarce in Europe. Landlords charge what the traffic will bear.

The accommodation the GI gets probably is inferior to what he had at home but he pays more for it. He finds little consolation in the fact that the situation near Army bases within the United States is similar. There are exceptions. Some soldiers meet Germans with whom they become good friends. Army officials say the longer a GI stays the more he gets used to the foreign country.

Manager Resigning

NEWPORT, Ark. (AP) — Donald Brown, first Newport City manager, said Tuesday he was resigning effective Sept. 20 to work for the U.S. Agency for International Development in South Vietnam. Last May four members of the city board of directors voted to terminate Brown's contract, but the board changed its position several days later.

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson nominated Maj. Gen. George H. Walker Tuesday to replace Brig. Gen. Carroll H. Dunn as a member of the Mississippi River Commission. Dunn has been reassigned.

Hoan Resigns as Premier of Viet Nam

By ROY ESSOYAN

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — Vice Premier Nguyen Ton Hoan resigned today, charging Premier Nguyen Khanh's present government "has no legal authority or standing."

While Khanh recovered from a physical breakdown, new troubles were heaped on his regime by Buddhist leaders who threatened a general strike. A strike will be called, the Buddhists warned, if the government fails to institute what they describe as needed democratic reforms.

Students have threatened renewed demonstrations if the government fails to pick men acceptable to them for a new National Assembly, promised by the caretaker government within 60 days.

Hoan, leader of the Dai Viet political party, a secret society with members holding several key positions in the army and government, said he resigned because "I disagree entirely" with policies of the Khanh government.

Hoan has been vice premier in charge of pacification since Khanh took over the government in a coup last Jan. 30. During the civil disorders that wracked South Viet Nam last week, Hoan issued a statement criticizing Khanh and his government.

Khanh denounced Hoan in turn last week and charged that Hoan stabbed "his collaborator" in the government in the back. He said Hoan was a key figure in a planned ousting of his government, but that the plot was foiled.

A telephoned bomb threat against a U.S. military officers' mess in downtown Saigon resulted in a careful search today of the building, as well as adjoining U.S. Information Service offices and a movie house. No bomb was found.

New Air Schedule

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — American Airlines President Marion Sadler said Tuesday that American will start a jet schedule between Dallas and New York, via Little Rock, early next summer.

Sadler made the announcement in a letter to Edward M. Penick, president of the Little Rock Chamber of Commerce. Details of the schedule will be announced later.

Spa Loses Out

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Roy L. Sharpe, Little Rock postmaster, said Tuesday that Hot Springs had lost to San Juan, Puerto Rico, as the site of the 1967 convention of the National Association of Postmasters.

It was reported last week that Hot Springs had been picked during the 1964 convention at New York. Sharpe said a convention committee recommended Hot Springs, but the delegates picked San Juan.

The Marriage License Bureau Busy

By THOMAS W. POSTER

NEW YORK (AP) — The world's largest marriage license bureau is busier than ever because of the bumper crop of World War II babies now making applications for licenses to get married.

Herman Katz, who heads New York City's Marriage License Bureau, reports that 1964 will be one of the biggest years for license issues. And 1964 being a leap year has nothing to do with it, he adds.

"The kids today are getting married younger," Katz said. "The fact of the matter is that the big rush is on because of the World War II babies who have reached the marrying age. And, of course, some of the younger men are getting married to take advantage of the draft deferment for married men." But 1964 will never top the record of 106,447 licenses issued in 1946 when World War II ended and discharged veterans rushed home to the sweethearts who waited for them.

In the first seven months of 1964, the bureau issued 4,665 licenses, an increase of 2,878 over the same period in 1963.

A check of the applications shows that most licenses are being issued to 18-year-old girls and 21-year-old men, the minimum age requirements for marriages without parental consent. Many licenses have been issued to girls under 18 and men under 21 but with parental consent. Legally, licenses can be issued to girls as young as 14 and boys as young as 16 with court sanction.

Last year the applications showed that most licenses were issued to applicants from 21 to 23 years of age.

When Katz performs a wedding — he and his six deputies, besides judges and Mayor Robert F. Wagner, are the only non-clergy members authorized to perform weddings in New York City — he takes the couple to the bureau's wedding chapel, small but tastefully decorated, with a pulpit and stained glass window.

"When I take that pulpit I try to give the impression to the couple before me that they're the only two people in the world who are getting married," he said. The ceremony takes about five minutes but Katz likes to stretch it out as long as possible.

Last year the city issued 69,628 licenses and expects to approach 80,000 by December 31. Only five states outside of New York, issued more licenses in 1963. Pennsylvania issued 7,211; Ohio, 71,673; Illinois, 94,552; Texas, 103,937; California, 121,369. New York State issued 130,511.

"Nevada, which issued 73,233, doesn't count," said Katz. "It's a business there, what with all their divorces. Here it's something special."

Convenience is a comprehensive word. It applies to anything that's "handy" or to anything that makes life easier or lessens work. Proximity and ease seem to be two good definitions. Canned gravies — beef, chicken, and mushroom — most certainly ease the work load—in fact, in many cases, they practically dispense with it! And, when the pantry shelf is kept stocked, they, indeed, fit the "handy" category, too.

Rich and smooth, right from the can, these gravies have multipurpose talents. They're great as pour-ones with meats, sauces for sandwiches, gravies for potatoes, rice, or noodles, and as cooking ingredients in your favorite casseroles and skillet dishes.

In this day of convenience foods, a great mate for canned gravy is packaged potatoes. Canned beef gravy, for example, finds matchless companionship with either packaged instant mashed, diced, or sliced frying potatoes. To serve you might want to dress it up like this:

Zippy Gravy

- 1 can (10% ounces) beef gravy
- 1 teaspoon drained prepared horseradish
- 2 tablespoons sour cream

In saucepan, combine all ingredients. Heat, stirring now and then. Makes 1 1/2 cups.

... or this way:

Party Gravy

- 1 can (10% ounces) beef gravy
- 1 tablespoon chopped green onion
- 1 tablespoon chopped pimiento

In saucepan, combine all ingredients. Heat, stirring now and then. Makes 1 1/2 cups.

Russia, China Dispute Land Size of Texas

By ANTHONY WHITE

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet Union today accused the Red Chinese of laying claim to a parcel of Soviet territory almost twice as big as Texas.

The accusation was made by the official Communist party newspaper Pravda, which declared in an editorial: "We are faced with an openly expansionist program with far-reaching pretensions."

Pravda said the Chinese repeatedly have published maps that allege China has a historic claim not only to vast amounts of Soviet territory, but also to Burma, Viet Nam, Korea, Thailand, Malaya, Nepal, Bhutan and Sikkim.

And, Pravda added, Peking wants to turn Mongolia into a Chinese province.

According to Pravda, the Chinese claim more than 500,000 square miles of Soviet territory. (Texas has an area of 267,339 square miles).

Pravda accused the Chinese of waging a war against the world Communist movement, and said Chinese party leader Mao Tse-tung was wrong when he — according to Pravda — claimed this war was only a paper war and did no harm since it didn't kill anyone.

The editorial said: "Mao Tse-tung's pronouncements on the territorial question patently show how far the Chinese leaders have gone in the cold war against the Soviet Union."

Then Pravda asked: "What would happen if all states should follow the Peking recipe and start presenting mutual claims to each other for a revision of historically formed borders?"

"There is no difficulty answering this question. This road would mean an inevitable aggravation of international tensions and would be fraught with military conflicts."

Petitions for Vote Machines

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The League of Women Voters presented petitions to the county clerk today in an effort to get the question "Shall voting machines be used in Pulaski County?" on the general election ballot.

The petitions bore signatures of 664 persons. Clerk R. S. Peters accepted the petitions and turned them over to the county Election Commission which must check the names and decide whether to qualify the proposal for the ballot.

It was the latest step in a long battle to eliminate the old method of marking ballots in the county. The petitions may start a battle between voting machine proponents and those who favor a votomatic.

The votomatic is a new voting device which its backers say makes the voting machine obsolete.

Under a recent Arkansas law, 300 qualified electors may force an election on use of voting machines in a county.

Fined for Looking at Television

OAK PARK, Ill. (AP) — De-lore Julian, 21, was fined $55 Tuesday for watching a television program — in her car.

Mrs. Julian was arrested in February for speeding and driving through a red light. Police said at the time she was looking at a six-inch television set mounted on the dash board of her car.

Students Have Settled Fines

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Judge Quinn Glover of Municipal Court said Tuesday that 10 Little Rock Central High School students fined in connection with a cross-burning incident last May 8 have settled their fines.

They pleaded guilty to misdemeanor charges of disturbing the peace, and were fined $303 each.

Glover said the boys worked during the summer and each paid $103 of their fines from the jobs. Glover said he suspended $200 on each fine.

The boys were originally charged with nightriding, a felony. A cross was lit near the home of another Central High School student who had reportedly been eating lunch with Negro students at the school. Glover reduced the charges at the request of the boys' attorneys.

Man Convicted of Murder

MCGEEHEE, Ark. (AP) — James Surridge was convicted Tuesday of first degree murder in the death of Norman Dollar of McGeehee, and was sentenced to life in prison.

A jury of 11 men and one woman deliberated nine hours before returning the verdict. The state had asked the death penalty.

Surridge was charged in the shooting of Dollar on July 9 in Dollar's motel room here. Dollar was a used car dealer.

Defense attorney Mutt Gibson said he would appeal. Surridge will be held in jail at Pine Bluff pending outcome of the appeal, Sheriff Robert S. Moore said.

All Teachers Have Some College Work

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Virtually every teacher in Arkansas public schools has at least 60 hours of collegework for the first time, the state Education Department said Tuesday.

Every teacher has at least 30 hours and only two or three have less than 60, department officials said.

Since last Sept. 1, no school board has been allowed to hire a regular teacher who does not have a Bachelor's degree. Teachers without degrees already in school systems must take six hours of college work toward a degree annually.

70 Drowned in Pakistan

RAWALPINDI, Pakistan (AP) — Seventy persons, including 15 children, drowned when a passenger boat capsized in the river Chenab, 200 miles from Rawalpindi, the Pakistan Times reports.

Unexpired Term

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The state Attorney General's office ruled Monday that Eugene W. Moore should fill the unexpired term of the late Judge Virgil D. Willis. Willis died Aug. 14 and Moore was appointed by Gov. Orval E. Faubus to fill the vacancy. The ruling said that since the death occurred less than four months prior to the Nov. 3 general election, the law provided the appointee complete the unexpired term. The term ends Dec. 31, 1966.

Korea Charges Plane Violation

PANMUNJOM, Korea (AP) — North Korea charged today that a United Nations command light plane violated Communist air space along the eastern part of the demilitarized zone Aug. 27.

U.S. Air Force Maj. Gen. Cecil E. Combs, senior U.N. command delegate to the Joint Military Armistice Commission, said the charge will be investigated.

Soviet Cars Built Sturdy Like Model T

By OLE DUUS

COPENHAGEN, Denmark (AP) — The electric sign in front of a Copenhagen auto dealer's showroom proclaims:

es of community workshops to acquaint voters with contents of the November general election ballot. I. S. McClinton, president said the ADVA will also take a stand on the Arkansas issues on the ballot.

"Plymouth...Valiant... Moskvitch."

Depending on his pocketbook, the Dane can take his choice of these and many other makes.

Soviet cars such as the Moskvitch aren't exactly flooding the market, but they are making a dent. About 45 a month are sold, in contrast to 1,000 Volkswagens from West Germany.

Nordisk Diesel, the importers estimate that more than 1,500 Moskvitches and Volgas have gone onto Danish roads since imports started in 1961.

Sven Heitmann is the most successful of 10 Copenhagen showrooms with Russian cars. He sold more than 50 last year, and says sales are going up.

"Most of the Soviet cars I sell are bought by people who heard the cars recommended by other people," he says.

Danish sales taxes are high, bringing the price of a Moskvitch to about $1,700. The Volga de luxe sells about $2,800. A Volkswagen is around $2,200.

The Moskvitch can squeeze in four persons while the Volga has room for five.

Few other family cars of this type can be bought at similar prices. American cars are much more expensive, many being in the $5,000-7,000 range. About 1,000 U.S. passenger cars are imported every year.

Dealers believe that more Soviet cars would be sold in this country if the body designs were more up to date. As of now they seem fashioned after older models of the West German Opel.

More important is a political barrier.

"Businessmen especially hesitate to be seen driving a Communist car," says Hiltmann.

What attracts buyers apparently is low price and solidity. The cars are built for bad Russian roads and the Soviet makers say the steel bodies are designed to withstand below-zero temperatures. Danish experts speak favorably of the body steel.

A Danish newspaperman who has driven a Moskvitch two years declares: "They are about the solidest things since the Model T Ford."

A "SOUPER SUPPER" FOR HEARTY APPETITES

Granny's treasured recipes are fast becoming obsolete. Her time-worn, painstaking favorites have been streamlined to suit a hustling generation. Colorfully labeled cans of ready-to-use foods have replaced yesterday's home-canned variety.

Dominating the pantry shelf are economical canned condensed soups, particularly condensed tomato soup. Active young mothers appreciate the versatility of this double-rich and double-thick soup in preparing casseroles, sauces, and one-dish meals.

There's a special delight in serving "souper suppers" to revive flagging appetites. Savory Lamb Pilaff is a tempting combination of juicy, tender lamb cubes, canned condensed tomato soup, pre-cooked rice, and a blend of seasonings. Fall lamb sales make this oven meal a good budget-saver. The menu can also include a salad of canned cling peach halves filled with chutney. For dessert . . . a packaged devil's food cake.

Athenia First Victim of Nazi U Boat

LONDON (AP) — A brisk breeze whipped up the North Atlantic as the British liner Athenia cut through the whitecaps on her voyage into history a quarter century ago Thursday.

It was Sunday, Sept. 3, 1939. The 13,581-ton ship was only a day out of Liverpool bound for Montreal.

Among the 1,417 passengers — 200 more than normal — there was little of the usual gaiety of an Atlantic crossing.

Just before lunch, the expected news came. A seaman posted a bulletin that Britain and France were at war with Germany.

The sweep of events in Europe dominated the conversation among passengers and crew. Many on board were Americans who had hoped to get home before the outbreak of a general war.

At 7:45 p.m., as the sun dropped toward the horizon, the Athenia was 250 miles off the northern tip of Ireland. Some passengers were still having dinner.

Suddenly, the lookout in the crow's nest shouted.

An eighth of mile away a periscope poked through the water. A white streak of foam raced toward the ship. A moment later there was a crash.

The torpedo blasted a huge hole in the port side stern of the engine room. A few minutes later a submarine numbered U30 surfaced and shot away the Athenia's main mast with a deck gun.

At 11 a.m. the following day, the Athenia sank. She had become the first Allied casualty of the Nazi U-boats.

The attack cost 112 lives. About half of the victims were Americans or Canadians. The sinking stirred an international outcry because the U30 had struck without warning against an unarmed merchantman.

In addition, neither the United States nor Canada was at war yet with Germany.

Some compared the incident to the sinking of the Lusitania in 1915, which helped edge the United States into World War I.

Why had the Nazi war machine struck against the Athenia so blatantly? Obviously embarrassed, the German propagandists accused the British of staging the sinking to drag the United States into the war.

The Germans had made a similar accusation after the Lu-

Patrol Can't Get Young Tall Men

OLYMPIA, Wash. (AP) — Why is the Washington State Patrol like a wallflower at the Senior Prom?

Answer: It isn't attracting enough tall, young men.

The patrol said Tuesday it has received only 20 applications after a week of recruiting for men at least six feet tall, between 21 and 28, with a high school education.

Johnson's Name Left Off Ballot

DES MOINES (AP) — Iowa Democrats scurried around today trying to rectify their oversight in failing to certify President Johnson and his running mate for the general election ballot in this state.

They had sympathetic support from leading Iowa Republicans. But the problem to be solved was how to get around state law which required that the names of Johnson and Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey, candidate for vice president, be certified for the Iowa ballot 65 days before the Nov. 3 general election.

Secretary of State Melvin Synhorst, who found the Johnson and Humphrey names missing after the deadline passed Monday, said he was willing to help.

governor, who was off on a fishing trip in Minnesota. But Hultman relayed word that some legal question might be involved.

Synhorst had the Johnson-Humphrey certification papers in hand after they were filed late Tuesday about 24 hours late by officials of the Democratic State Central Committee. Whether they would be accepted apparently hinged on a sitanian incident.

But the real story of the attack on the Athenia came out at the Nuernberg war crime trials in 1946. A statement by Adm. Karl Doenitz told how he had met the U30 on her return to port and encountered a "very unhappy" Capt. Fritz - Julius Lemp, the submarine's skipper.

Lemp told Doenitz he had mistaken the Athenia for an armed merchant cruiser on patrol. The Nazi regime imposed an oath of secrecy on everyone involved and even ordered the U-boat's log doctored.

U30 went on to make several more kills.

'JUST FOR TWO': CUISINE CUES

Summer or fall, it's a smart bride who makes barbecuing a regular part of her menu-planning program. Even without a terrace, yard or patio, it's easy to enjoy charred-cooked foods with a table-top hibachi, and the new husband will be proud to show off his skill at the grill.

A GOOD TRICK is to plan an entire meal to be cooked on the grill, eliminating many dishwashing chores, timing problems and other culinary hazards for the beginner. And another good trick is to set the table with modern melamine dinnerware, like the gaily bordered casual pattern shown here. It's easy to handle, it's chip- and break-resistant (even when dropped by an awkward new chef), and it's perfectly at home in the automatic dishwasher.

A wonderful choice for a just-for-two cookout, or "cook in," is this menu featuring super-special lamb chops, little kebabs of alternating canned whole onions and mushroom crowns, and pineapple rings. For a Far Eastern touch, fill out the menu with fluffy rice and spicy chutney.

Here's the lamb-chop recipe that will convince him she has a degree from the Cordon Bleu:

Tops in Chops
4 double-thick Frenched lamb chops
1 teaspoon curry powder
1/2 teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon aromatic bitters
2 tablespoons lime juice
1 cup salsa oil
1 teaspoon Kitchen Bouquet

Place chops in flat container. Add mixture of remaining ingredients; cover and marinate in refrigerator for 3 hours or longer, turning once or twice. When ready to use, bring to room temperature, drain and broil over charcoal to desired degree of doneness; turn once, brushing on both sides with remaining marinade.

"DEAR ABBY"

THE PICTURE MIGHT LIE!

By Abigail Van Buren

Dear Abby: What can I do with a husband who talks of nothing but his ailments? He is tall, handsome and the picture of health. He has been examined by experts, who all say he is as fit as a fiddle. Yet he has driven away almost all his friends because he complains so much. He even tells the clerks in stores about his aches and pains. If we go on a trip, all he remembers about it afterwards are the places where he had the headaches. I am—

GETTING DESPERATE
Dear Abby: If your husband continues to complain about his health after the experts affirm that he is "fit as a fiddle" quit fiddling around and take the cue. Ask one of those experts to recommend another expert—in the psychiatry department. Fiddles on occasion have been known to snap a string.

Dear Abby: What do you think of married children who are always taking advantage of their parents? They bring their children to us so we can baby-sit with them, and they spend the week-ends fishing or going away somewhere.

They all work and could well afford to hire someone to sit with their children. They could also ask their parents to go with them once in a while, but they never think of it. I hope you'll print this because they read your column and it would do them good to know how selfish they are.

GRANDMA
Dear Grandma: They may be selfish, but you don't deserve much sympathy. Why don't you tell THEM that you are not a free baby-sitting service? They are probably under the impression that you enjoy it because you haven't complained.

Dear Abby: Tell Joe, who couldn't seem to stick with a diet, that his idea of going to jail for 30 days and living on bread and water was not so dumb. If he has all that money for doctors, why not get himself a few acres of land in an out-of-the-way place and build his own "jail"? He could get a time lock and lock himself in with only a jug of water, a few oranges and some carrots. I've had a weight problem for years and that's what I do. I built myself a little place near Palm Springs, and when I put on about ten extra pounds, I lock myself in for 36 hours at a crack. I am 56 and in fine shape. If Joe lives anywhere near Palm Springs, Calif., he is welcome to use my "jail."

Politicians Backlash the High Court

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court, which has moved into vacuums Congress wouldn't fill, is getting its own particular kind of backlash from politicians.

In a struggle now over curbing the court's powers members of Congress have themselves as boxed in they may be here another month although they could lose the time in election campaigning.

An attempt is being made to undo the court's ruling last June that voters in the states are entitled to far more equal representation in their state legislatures than they are getting now.

Example: Under arrangements unchanged for more than half a century in some states a relatively small number of people in one district, especially country district, can elect one legislator while four times as many people squeezed into a single district elsewhere can elect only one.

The court said representation in both houses of state legislatures must be apportioned on a population basis of "one person, one vote," and federal courts have the job to see it's done.

The present attempt to undercut the authority and range of the court is looked upon as so dangerous by opponents of the effort that one of them, Rep. Emanuel Celler, D-N.Y., said "it could wind up rendering the court a nullity, destroying our Republican system of government."

The powerful court over the past 10 years has infuriated one group after another with decisions ranging from a ban on segregation to a ban on official prayers in public schools. It inflamed the politicians — some of them — by its decision on state legislatures.

The politicians and political machines which hold power in state legislatures where representation is not on an equal population basis naturally don't want any changes that would cost them jobs or power.

Some people, not directly involved, may feel the court overreached itself. But the Republicans at their convention this year responded to the opposition to the court ruling by putting into their platform a promise in support of: "A constitutional amendment, as well as legislation, enabling states having bicameral (two-house) legislatures to apportion one house on bases of their own choosing, including factors other than population."

This would take away the court's power to order reapportionment of both houses on a population basis.

A week after the Republican convention in July Sen. Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois, Republican leader of the Senate, attempted to carry out the platform promise by introducing a proposed constitutional amendment in Congress.

But there wouldn't be time to act on it this year, since Congress is coming to an end. It would have to wait till next year. So as an interim move Dirksen made this proposal in the form of a bill to be passed this year: Delay any court orders on reapportionment for about two years.

He didn't offer it as a bill by itself — he said he didn't think it had a chance that way — but as an amendment on the $3.5-billion foreign aid authorization bill.

President Johnson is anxious to get the foreign aid money. If he vetoes the bill because of the attached Dirksen amendment, the whole thing would have to go back to Congress. He very probably wouldn't veto it. That's Dirksen's strategy.

For some strange reason, although the value of people's votes are involved in all this, Johnson has said nothing, taken no stand. The Democrats in their platform played mousetrap by leaving out all mention of reapportionment.

Mike Mansfield of Montana, Democratic leader in the Senate, worked out a compromise bill with Dirksen, just a little milder, and with the help of the Johnson administration's Justice Department.

But some members of the Senate — particularly liberals led by Sen. Paul Douglas, a Democrat and like Dirksen from Illinois — wouldn't buy any part of it and are determined to fight until they kill it.

The two-year delaying action in the Dirksen bill would give Congress time to approve the kind of constitutional amendment he has in mind and then perhaps time for the states to approve.

A constitutional amendment must be approved by two-thirds of House and Senate and by three-fourths of the state legislatures — 38 out of 50 or three-fourths of conventions called by the states. It is up to Congress to decide which method is to be used.

If it was done by state conventions — to which delegates would be elected by the people — the voters could have a direct vote in whether they wanted reapportionment by voting for delegates who were for or against it.

But only once in American history — this was the 21st Amendment ending prohibition in 1933 — has an amendment submitted to the states by Congress been approved by state conventions.

If Dirksen's amendment went to state legislatures it's not hard to imagine the politicians who stood to lose jobs or power by reapportionment would jump at the chance to approve the amendment.

Negroes File for Office at Pine Bluff

PINE BLUFF, Ark. (AP) — Three Negroes active in civil rights work have filed petitions seeking to qualify as independent candidates for state representative, it was announced Tuesday.

All three are members of the Student Nonviolent Co-ordinating Committee.

Filing in Jefferson County were Rev. Benjamin Grinage, 32, former chairman of the Pine Bluff Movement, a SNCC affiliate; and James Bagnby, 32, present chairman of the movement. Grinage would face Position 3 incumbent Jess Wat of Altheimer; Bagnby filed for Position 4, sought by Democrat James Stevens and Republican E. G. Basinger, both of Pine Bluff.

THE STORY: Not knowing that the woman he met in Terrapin was Polly, wife of Sheriff Sam Renwick, Frank Ives has made plans to meet her at Stag Creek, according to the previous arrangement.

Brick, having run the check on Ives, considered himself in the best place to judge and was about fed up with what he took to be Finney's stature-diminishing sour grapes meddling.

"If that's a fact," he said, "don't let it faze you." Finney, all but frothing, cried: "You let this guy slope with what he knows about these cows an' I'll see that you answer to Jule! I tell you this sport's set up a meetin' with someone—why else would he give a hoot what day it is? An' if it ain't with Renwick—"

"You can rest easy there," Brick cut in with curled lip, "because Tuesday, the 21st, is the one afternoon of this whole snake-eyed month when Sam Renwick won't be out of his office. If you'd been to town you'd know it. Hes got a date with the county commissioner. Now you run to Jule if that's what you wanta do, but git outa my hair, you hear?"

Finney stared with dropped jaw. Then, shaking with rage,

The Jefferson county candidates' petitions had 1,900 names with only 1,657 needed, according to Eugene Jasper of Pine Bluff, chairman of the campaign committee for the 20th Senatorial District. He said Green's petition had about 300 names, and 242 were needed.

Members of election commissions in both counties said the petitions were being checked.

Salad and Burgers for Patio Dining

Among all the foods especially enjoyable outdoors, few taste so good and go together so well as Patio Citrus Salad and Barbecue Burgers. What's more, they are easy and quick to put together, a fact much appreciated by the cook when the forecast reads "sunny and hot."

The salad is a simple arrangement of fruits on lettuce. Two different dressings make ideal toppings for the salad, and either one or both may be offered if desired: a thick, smooth and creamy French dressing and a Blue cheese dressing with equally tempting cream-like consistency. Unlike thin dressings, these cling to the fruit and lettuce so that their goodness goes along on every forkful of salad. Both come ready to pour and enjoy, and are packed in 8 and 16-ounce attractive glass bottles.

For the Barbecue Burgers, the simplest imaginable trick turns ground beef into patties with a world of flavor. The trick is this: add some of the barbecue sauce to the beef before shaping and grilling. That way a number of seasoning ingredients are added in one step—tomato, vinegar, sugar, spices, to name just a few—and the good barbecue flavor goes all through the meat.

Baker's buns for the burgers, a beverage—instant, perhaps?—and crisp cookies round out a menu that's as delicious as it is simple.
